HUNDRED STRONG AT
COMMITTEE HEARING.

PRESENT ADVANTAGES

Are Cited As Instances of What Can Be Done Through Push and Enterprise.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, March 6.—It was field day for the Fox river valley over the state fair removal bills before the committees yesterday. A delegation of 100 came from such centers as Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Neenah to tell why their respective cities should be located in a rural community and how Milwaukee had in their opinion failed to meet the situation. There was surprising unanimity of views and lack of selfish rivalry among the cities of the valley judged by the spirit of co-operation revealed in the several talks before the state committees. Whether Fond du Lac or Oshkosh got it, all would be united in making the fair an unqualified success they said.

Oshkosh Mayor Talks.
Mayor John Mulva of Oshkosh thanked Senator White for selecting Oshkosh as the location in his bill, but said Oshkosh would not be selfish about it; all they asked was that the fair be moved to the most satisfactory point for the whole state, the bill could be amended if necessary to effect this result. Mayor F. J. Wynn of Fond du Lac said the hearing had proven undeniably that there is a strong sentiment for removal as well as great need therefor, and that this city has offered every inducement in the way of site, geographical location, agricultural eminence and the necessary rural population, and the proper public spirit to make the fair there a success.

Much interest was shown in comparative figures presented by Attorney J. C. Thompson of Oshkosh. He said an area with a radius of fifty miles around Milwaukee, leaving out that city's population, contains 280,000 people, and that the same area around Oshkosh, deducting that city's population, has 453,977 inhabitants; and reasoned that the Fox River valley district has 75,000 more people than whom to draw for state fair support than has the Cream City. This territory was also tributary to the farming communities to an extent that the Milwaukee district could not approach, he continued, and it is near to the geographical center of the state.

Is Easily Accessible.
The valley's transportation facilities were described as adequate in every way, the Soo and Northwestern lines made it accessible from the northern half of the state, and the Northwestern's Janesville "airline" provided service from the southern counties which he said made the Oshkosh-Fond du Lac country more accessible than Milwaukee now is. Even the Kenosha corner of the state had the same good service, he declared, for fair patrons from that section could reach the valley "quicker by railroad than it takes the street railroad to take them from the Hotel Pfister to West Allis," he said.

With a pledge of a donation of the proper site and with every possibility of being able to sell the Milwaukee ground for a half a million dollars, he saw no fear of financial loss to the state by removing the fair to the valley.

Attorney L. A. Williams of Fond du Lac declared that if the Walworth county fair at Elkhorn, backed by the farmers, can be made the great success it has been, it follows that a state fair located in a farming community should be made an even greater success. Fond du Lac presented all the desired facilities and advantages, and he saw no need for personal agitation without action. He called attention to the slogan of the delegation. "Eventually—why not now?" The removal was no longer the joke that some have been pleased to consider it, he said.

Milwaukee Selfish.
Attorney John F. Sullivan of the Oshkosh delegation said the stores and theaters of the metropolis attract more people from the state than ever out to the grounds, and declared that if Milwaukee fights to retain the fair it is selfish for reasons and not for the best interests of the state.

"There is a demand for a state fair in all that 'term implies,' he said. 'Not one-tenth of those who go to Milwaukee in state fair week expect to get out to see it; the counter attractions are too much for them. I say there is a sufficient showing here today to convince you that it is the duty of this committee to let the senate and assembly give this proposal a fair hearing. Let the bill require that the site be donated if you want to, but find a location somewhere in a rural community.'"

James Murray of Waupun, chairman of the Fond du Lac county board, said that after 31 years' experience in Milwaukee, that city had failed miserably even with the state's funds back of them, and he mentioned famous breeders and other exhibitors of the state who refuse to show at the state fair.

Fairs for Farmers.
T. R. Frenz of Oshkosh said that state fairs are not made for city people; they are for the farmers, and that "you can't make a success out of a fair that is not attended even after the farmers get to the fair city."

ers do not feel welcome at the Milwaukee fair.

"The Milwaukee policy is to take and never give," he declared. "We must not lose sight of the fact that county fairs have been created largely because of the failure of Milwaukee to realize what a state fair really should mean."

Point of Jefferson.
Former Senator T. H. Lyons of Fond du Lac said that if Jefferson, a city of 2,000, could take care of 17,000 daily admissions at its own county fair, there was no question of the ability of the populous Fox river valley cities to take care of ten times that number.

A. W. Lawrence of Sturgeon Bay, one of the state's largest fruit growers; N. A. Rasmussen, a well known Oshkosh horticulturist, and J. H. Burns of Oakfield, spoke as farmers for a change in the fair.

Milwaukee was defended by practically the only Milwaukeean in the room—John Frazer, who was present on an "automatic gun" hearing but who felt bound to uphold his city's reputation, according to his opening statement. "The only trouble at Milwaukee," he said, "was the lack of accommodations at the grounds and he contrasted the lack of standing room at the race track with the excellent accommodations at the Minnesota fair. He thought the Fond du Lac and Oshkosh speakers were more interested in their cities than in the rural districts.

"Why don't the farmers of Wisconsin come here and talk for removal?" The farmers above mentioned responded.

Face Trouble in Labor Dispute.

Riot in Rochester.
Rochester, N. Y., March 6.—The striking garment workers here opened today with rioting in which 1,500 persons participated. The police used their clubs freely. HOLD PROFESSOR FOR MURDER IN ST. PAULDemonstrator in Minnesota Agricultural School Said to Have Confessed to Shooting Delivery Man.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—Prof. Oscar M. Olson, a demonstrator of the university of Minnesota school of agriculture at St. Anthony Park, is today in a cell here awaiting arraignment on the charge of shooting, and killing Clyde N. Darling, driver for a local laundry. Olson surrendered to the police early today and according to them confessed that he waited for his chance and deliberately shot Darling. "It was simply the unwritten rule," Prof. Olson is quoted as saying, "in reply to the questioning of the police is said to have declined to talk further concerning the case until he appears in court. Mrs. Olson with her four year old daughter is now visiting friends at Montevideo, Minn., where Olson formerly lived.

Darling according to the police was shot just as he entered the rear door of a small kitchen of the Olson home. Two shots were fired both of which entered Darling's breast.

Immediately afterwards Olson is said to have gone to the home of A. L. Anderson a government employee and a friend and asked him to come home where there had been "some trouble."

Just as they reached the door it is said, Mr. Olson remarked "I shot a man. He's dead." With Mr. Olson assenting Anderson then called the police who took the professor to the 1300 Avenue station where he spent the remainder of the night.

BRYAN AND WILSON
PLAN FEW CHANGES
IN FOREIGN POLICYAttitude Regarding Mexican Situation
Will Be Unchanged Under New Administration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 6.—Indications that no immediate or sweeping changes in the foreign policy of the United States are contemplated were afforded today when Secretary Bryan without much qualification approved the letters and instructions by wire that went out to the American representatives abroad in countries where stirring events are happening.

Plans Careful Study.
It is true that in general this was routine business, but it was inferred by the officials of lesser rank than the secretary, that President Wilson intends to make a careful study of all the data to be presented to him by Secretary Bryan before making any radical changes in existing policies.

It became known today that without abating this government's claim to the right to maintain an efficient army patrol along the Mexican border the new administration intends to use every proper means to avoid friction with the Mexicans across the line.

Postpone Reception.
This was Secretary Bryan's first "diplomatic day." Custom decrees that when a new secretary of state takes office the diplomatic corps on the first Thursday of his administration calls upon him formally to permit the secretary to meet the representatives of the foreign nations with whom he is to deal.

The purpose of President Wilson to hold daily meetings of his cabinet, however, resulted in the postponement of the usual affair today.

The formal presentation of the diplomats will take place probably before next Thursday.

POLICE SEE A HOAX
IN MRS. MILLS' LOSSFinding of $41,000 Check on Sidewalk in Chicago Connected With Kansas City Woman.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, March 6.—A small black purse containing a check for $41,000 on the State Bank of Elkhart, Indiana, made payable to H. L. Stevens, and signed Mrs. Mable Mills, was found on the sidewalk at North Clark street and Center avenue last night by William J. Dibos, a saloonkeeper, at 2100 North Halsted street.

While the find appeared on the surface to be genuine, the police could not disregard the theory of a hoax.

It was learned that Mrs. Mills has no account at the Elkhart bank and that she and Stevens have had no business relations. Dibos turned the check over to the police. It is dated March 1, 1913, the date on which Mrs. Mills, now at Kansas City, claims to have lost or been in some manner deprived of $41,000 in $1,000 bills.

TURKISH FORTRESS
TAKEN BY GREEKS;
IMPORTANT VICTORYFall of Janina Today Places
Greece in Stronger Position
To Deal With Bulgaria.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, March 6.—There was rejoicing in the Greek diplomatic circles today over the fall of the important Turkish stronghold of Janina which hitherto had offered stern resistance to the Greek attacks.

The success of their army places Greece in a much stronger position to deal with Bulgaria when the time comes for the division of the spoils of war.

Take Many Prisoners.
Athens, March 5.—The Greek army took thirty two thousand Turkish prisoners at the fall of Janina today. These comprise the whole of the ordinary garrison and many refugees from Monastir and other places.

Key to Epirus.
The Turkish fortress of Janina, the key to the possession of the Province of Epirus, with its garrison of 32,000 men, surrendered to the Greek army today after a defense which formed one of the most brilliant episodes of the Balkan war.

No fewer than 30,000 shells were fired by the Greek guns during the first day. Gradually the Turkish batteries at Bizani, Manolira, Sakni and elsewhere were silent.

Turks Are Surprised.
The Greek commander, by a feint, led the Turks to believe that their attack would be made from the right. As soon as the attention of the defenders had been distracted the Greeks hurled large bodies of infantry against the Turkish left. The Ottoman troops, utterly surprised, fell back in disorder.

The batteries on the heights of Bizani, the main stay of the defense, had been unable to stand the pelting of the shells and were reduced to complete silence at eleven o'clock yesterday morning.

Offer Surrender.
Athens, March 6.—An offer to surrender the Turkish fortress of Janina to the Greek army has been made by Essad Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish garrison there, as a result of a victory by the Greek troops according to a report received here.

Enter Fortress.
The Turkish fortress of Janina was entered at nine o'clock this morning by three squadrons of Greek cavalry under the command of Gen. Souzo. No details have yet reached here of the battle.

Transports Sunk.
Vienna, March 5.—The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh today sunk three Greek transports loaded with Serbian troops on their way to Scutari, according to a dispatch from Constantinople to the Neue Freie Presse.

In Aegean Sea.
The attack on the transport occurred, it is said, near the peninsula of Hagios Oros in the Aegean sea. From this it would appear that the transports were proceeding not to Scutari, but Gallipoli where it was supposed some time ago by the Balkan allies to make a flank attack on the Turkish troops defending the Dardanelles.

Large Convoy.
Convoy of Greek transports was a large one consisting of 24 vessels which carried 34 guns. They were encountered by the Hamidieh shortly after they had left the coast.

ASSEMBLY DECLARES
FOR SHORT SESSIONAdopt Axel Johnson Resolution for Constitutional Amendment After Spirited Debate.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, March 6.—The assembly went on record today in favor of shorter sessions of the legislature. After a spirited debate the house adopted, by a vote of 73 to 21, the Axel Johnson resolution for constitutional amendment limiting the sessions to 120 days. The measure must be passed by two legislatures and be approved by the people before it becomes effective.

The Harbut assembly resolution for a legislative amendment to enable the state to carry the insurance of its citizens, was explained as a measure which passed the last legislature and upon its passage by this legislature will be voted upon by the people. L. L. Johnson said it would not put the private companies out of business, as some feared. The resolution was adopted, 75 to 18.

Adoption of Assemblyman Vinje's resolution memorializing congress for the election of federal judge by the people, was voted without dissent. Assembly bills passed included:

Permitting automobiles to be insured by town mutual insurance companies.

Requiring individual towels in hotels and public buildings.

A resolution by Senator Teasdale calling upon the teachers' retirement fund board for further information as to the operation of that law, was adopted. The resolution requires the report to be made within thirty days.

SEVENTY-ONE DEAD
IS TOTAL NUMBEROfficial Statement Given Out in Berlin
In Regard to Torpedo Boat Disaster.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 6.—The total number of killed as the result of the ramming of torpedo boat destroyer "S 173" by the York off Halliggen was given officially today as 71, including two officers and sixty nine men. It is stated by the Admiralty that most of the crew did not die by drowning, but were frozen to death while clinging to loose spars, after their vessel had sunk.

The official account of the disaster states that "the destroyer while crossing the bows of the York became unmanageable owing to the terrific sea and was cut in two by the bigger vessel which was going at full speed. The storm made the rescue of the men almost impossible and many of the corpses were not picked up until today."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, March 6.—The writ of habeas corpus obtained in behalf of Harry K. Thaw suddenly was withdrawn at the request of his counsel in the supreme court today. Thaw was in court.

William Travers Jerome was ready to proceed with the argument when one of Thaw's lawyers notified Justice Gerchow that he desired to withdraw the proceeding.

Subsequently it was explained that the move was made because Dr. Charles Kennedy, the lawyer who obtained the writ for Thaw, had been privately with his client at Mattawan and for this reason was not ready to go ahead with the case.

Thaw was taken back to the asylum and the right of his lawyers to see him in private there will be threshed out in court.

Department Heads Break All Rec-

at the Hour Designated for Meeting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 6.—President Wilson was strongly urged by house leaders to use his influence for and agree to a plan which would confine congress to the enactment of tariff legislation and the passage of two appropriation bills which failed in the closing days of the last congress.

House Leaders' Plan.
The house leaders want to pass the tariff bills as quickly as possible, send them to the senate and then instead of taking up other legislation such as current reform have the house adjourn for a period of three days at a time. Their object in this it was said, was to have the senate the only body doing business so that the eyes of the nation could be focused upon it and attention would not be diverted to other subjects.

In the opinion of some house leaders this would enable President Wilson and the democrats in the senate through their own power and the force of public attention to get such tariff legislation as the democratic platform declared to be necessary.

Senate Caucus.
Democrats of the senate today resumed their caucus to determine upon a plan of reorganization of the senate and the reshaping of committees that are to have charge of legislation in the new congress.

Senator Kern of Indiana, chosen caucus chairman and majority leader at yesterday's session of the senate, had a long conference last night with President Wilson and was prepared today to discuss in some detail with his colleagues the policies and plans of the new administration.

Cabinet Meets Promptly.
President Wilson's cabinet today broke some of the records established by Mr. Taft's official family. The Taft advisors usually reached the White House offices much after eleven o'clock, the hour set for the meeting. All Mr. Wilson's cabinet were in the offices within a few minutes of the meeting hour ready to sit for a dozen photographers and several moving picture men.

Secretary Bryan was again a center of interest when he entered the executive offices. He had a time setting through the crowd and was stopped several times to be introduced by senators and congressmen to their constituents.

Several women in the waiting room began to clap their hands and sing out, "O, there's Bryan," when the secretary entered at a rapid walk, doffed his hat and smiled.

Formal Meeting.
President Wilson's cabinet, was scheduled to meet formally today for the first time. The conference yesterday was held before the nominations were sent to the senate and the meeting had no official standing.

No provision had been made today for Vice-President Marshall although President Wilson has been quoted as saying that he saw no reason why the vice-president should not sit with the official family.

Many to See Wilson.
President Wilson's second day in the White House found a long engagement list awaiting his attention. Baron Chinda, ambassador from Japan to the United States, the first representative of a foreign power to be formally received, was among the first. The reception was in the "blue" room with all the ceremony which accompanied the visit of an ambassador to a president.

Augustus Thomas and Frederick C. Penfield, who are being mentioned as likely to become ambassadors to European courts, had engagements at the White House later in the day.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Springfield, Ill., March 6.—More than 50,000 working women in Chicago are receiving wages of $5 or less per week each, according to reports made to acting governor Barrett O'Hara today by the investigators of the senate vice commission of which he is chairman. Mr. O'Hara said:

"I brief this is the situation. Is it any wonder women go wrong? No woman is bad at heart. Environment is responsible for a majority of crimes. Women go wrong because they are compelled to. They have to live. Life is dear to all of us."

"Many of them are being victims of the infamous white slave traffic and it is high time the people take cognizance of such conditions."

PARCEL POST HOW TO USE IT.

The new parcel post law includes some perplexing provisions. The Gazette is from day to day presenting a concise explanation of some of the more important sections of the law.

When sharp pointed instruments are offered for mailing the points must be capped or encased, so that they can not cut through the covering. Blades must be bound so that they will remain firmly attached to each other or within their handles or sockets.

Millinery, toys, musical instruments, etc., and articles consisting wholly or in part of glass, or contained in glass must be securely packed and marked "Fragile."

Pistols and revolvers when in detached parts are now mailable as parcel post, although the original ruling prohibited it.

The Gazette Parcel Post Map gives the zone limits, rates and all the provisions of the law. It is a good Geographical map of the United States and for a quick comprehension of the parcel post law is invaluable. This map is now on sale at 25 cents, if called for at the Gazette office, or 35 cents by mail.

The map is FREE if you pay one year's subscription in advance to the Daily Gazette.

BOAT CLUB SUPPORT TO BE GIVEN BILL

Pass Resolution Endorsing Measure Designed to Improve Navigation of Rock River.

By a resolution passed at a meeting held in the municipal court room the members of the Janesville Boat Club last night endorsed the bill now before the legislature providing that the net proceeds received by the state from the sale of rough fish taken from certain portions of the Rock River and Lake Koshkonong in Rock and Jefferson counties be devoted to improving the navigation of the river. It was also decided to notify the Rock county representatives in the legislature of their action and urge them to work for its passage. A resolution was passed for presentation to the mayor and council requesting that the city remove the old piles from the river above the railway bridge. Attendance at the meeting was good and great interest shown in the questions under discussion.

The bill, which is a measure of considerable length, and outlines in detail the methods by which the improvements of the river are to be made, provides that when twenty-five or more adult owners of land bordering upon the Rock River between the city of Janesville and Lake Koshkonong, or upon the shores of Lake Koshkonong, shall file in the circuit court of Rock or Jefferson county a petition setting forth:

(1)—That they desire the appointment of a river draining commission;
(2)—A description of the portion of such river within such limits which they desire dredged and otherwise rendered better suited for easy navigation.
(3)—The estimated cost of the proposed improvement, as set forth in the petition, together with a bond in the sum of not less than $500 with sureties to be approved by the clerk of the circuit court, conditioned upon the payment of the expenses incurred in a preliminary survey and the estimate of the proposed improvement should such improvement not be made, the circuit court in which such petition is filed or the judge thereof shall appoint three river drainage commissioners, no one of whom shall be an owner of real estate bordering upon any of the waters hereinbefore described.

Subject to the limitations provided the commissioners shall proceed to improve the river in such manner as shall best render it navigable for boats which draw not over three feet of water. Powers and duties of the river commissioners, and the awarding of contracts, and appropriation and disposal of funds are provided for in the bill.

FIRST PARDON REQUEST COMES FROM LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, March 6.—The first application to President Wilson for a convict's pardon will be made by Mrs. Fred H. Thompson, who left here today for Washington to ask executive clemency for her husband, an attorney, convicted of accepting a fee of $15,000 stolen from the Los Angeles postoffice. Thompson was sentenced to serve eight years in the federal prison on McNeill's island, Wash., and an appeal was denied. His attorneys declare that he is suffering from tuberculosis and the prison term would kill him.

BILLS WOULD LIMIT COMMISSION'S POWER

Hearings on Schnitzler Telephone Bills and Other Matters Before Transportation Committee.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 6.—Several bills intended to curb the authority and activities of the railroad commission which were considered by the assembly committee on transportation, brought scores of people here from all sections of the state to object to such legislation. Three of the bills were introduced by Assemblyman Schnitzler of De Pere. One was aimed at making telephone companies furnish the same service continuously as they were serving on January 1 without an increase in rate. The bill is intended to remedy a local situation, but it developed at the hearing that it would be general in application. Free telephone service is now furnished between De Pere and Green Bay, but because of the increase in traffic the Wisconsin Telephone company intends to ask the railroad commission for permission to increase the rate so that a five cent toll charge may be made. Schnitzler's bill is aimed to prevent this being considered by the commission. Another bill is to compel the street railway operating between De Pere and Green Bay to sell six tickets for a quarter, as was agreed in a franchise granted several years ago. This case is now pending before the railroad commission. A similar bill relates to the Green Bay Gas company, which is now building an extension to De Pere. City Attorney Smith of De Pere appeared in favor of the bills and B. Parker, manager of the Green Bay public utilities, appeared against them.

Earlier in the afternoon the committee considered the K. A. Johnson bill aimed at repealing that portion of the public utilities law that prohibits duplication of telephone systems in a city, without first obtaining a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the railroad commission. The bill has a local application. Farmers in Columbia county would like to build into the village of Rio, but do not wish to come under the physical connection law. J. M. Bushnell and J. H. Donovan of Wyoming appeared in favor of the bill, claiming that the farmer companies could furnish cheaper service. They desired the repeal of the anti-duplication law as it hampered them.

Flowers in the House.
Flowers add so much to the cheerfulness of the home, even though we may not be extravagant in buying them. A few flowers tastefully arranged brighten the entire appearance of a room. Dinner tables look bare and neglected without the little vase of flowers or centerpiece of ferns.

LOTS OF PROPOSALS FOR MOVIE ACTRESS

Miss Dolores Costello.
How would you like to be proposed to eight times in one week? This is what really happened to the fair and clever Dolores Costello, who is a moving picture heroine. Miss Costello received a letter of proposal from a German baron the other day. He said he was so smitten with her that he would leave on the first steamer after the arrival of the letter requesting him to come. Among the several proposals was one from a plumber. He promised Miss Costello she should accept him, he would quit putting the pipe and also stop sleeping under the bathtub, making sixty cents an hour. Miss Costello emphatically says "that she will have no plumbers or barons. There is a reason."

MIZZI HAJOS MAKES A DECIDED CONQUEST

"The Rose Maid" Captures Audience Last Evening—Clever Music Capable Company.

Seldom has a musical comedy come to Janesville and captivated an audience as did the "Rose Maid" which appeared at the Myers Theatre Wednesday evening. Opening with a reel of dancing, tuneful music, gay uniforms, filmy gowns, fresh voices it sprang into immediate favor and not once during the two acts did the audience lose interest. It is not deep in humor, but it ripples through the entire production which is bright and pretty, with catchy lines, clever situations and tuneful songs. The plot is not confusing, one expects the final results long before the climax comes but the dainty ensemble of the entire production is something that has seldom been seen in the local playhouse. Mizzi Hajos, the dainty little Hungarian, who played the role of Daphne, resembled a dainty bisque doll, but unlike the doll she could sing, could dance and her charms grew on the audience as the comedy progressed. Vincent Sullivan, as the Duke of Barchester, had a wonderful voice and his tenor solos were a rare treat. Oscar Ragland as Dennis, Al Sheen as Schumaker and William Laughlin as Chumley, the trio money lenders, who really conceived all the situations proved a most amusing trio and Sheng kept outdid any previous characterization as a funny man by his sallies of wit and humor. Helen Darling as the Princess, was not as pleasing in her role as was May Emory, the Countess Bertrand, who chartered the American Millionaire to Ostend where the second scene was laid. In the chorus, as under study to Miss Darling, in the role of Princess, was a Miss Ellsworth, who was recognized by many as Miss Marie Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Clark former residents of this city. Miss Ellsworth, her stage name, is making her initial bow in musical comedy. Her married life she is the wife of Ralph Erroll, a singer of considerable note, who is at present staying for grand opera in Chicago. Her parents live in Duluth, her mother will be remembered as Miss Nan Cussod, daughter of the late chief justice of the state. While in Janesville, Miss Ellsworth was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Frank Jackman at dinner last evening. The company left this morning for Madison where they appear this evening.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

FOR THE LEAST OF THESE.

There is a characteristic incident of President Lincoln told by a gentleman who attended one of his receptions. This occurred, I think, in 1864; at any rate, after the issuance of the emancipation proclamation.

While the senators, generals and other white folks of quality passed in many negroes hung about outside the White House watching the spectacle. It was not until the long line was nearly at an end that they timidly began to edge toward the door. They were dressed in all sorts of outlandish costume, some in rags, others in bright colors.

Lincoln was tired from the long ordeal of handshaking, but his face immediately lighted up on seeing these motley admirers still hanging back as though uncertain of their reception.

His hearty greetings dispelled all doubts, and then ensued a scene baffling description. They crowded about him like children, shouting blessings on his name in a very abandon of religious fervor. Among the ejaculations could be distinguished over and over again the cry of "God bless Massa Lincoln" or "God bless Abraham Lincoln."

As the gentlemen left the White House he said he heard fast young men cursing the president for receiving these people, but in his own heart echoed and re-echoed their cry of "God bless Abraham Lincoln."

Can you read of this incident with dry eyes? If not, you are my friend.

It is well to take in all the picture, the shadows along with the high lights—the fast young men, for example.

God save us from snobbery!

The most charitable thing to be said is that they were young. Possibly they gained wisdom, insight and heart in the years that followed.

The parallel comes unbidden to one's mind of the thoughtless rabble crying "Crucify him! Crucify him!" about Pilate's palace in Jerusalem.

"As ye do unto the least of these."

The man who is blessed by the poor, who is loved by the unfortunate, is more to be regarded than him who stands before kings.

For he has rendered service where he could expect no return.

"God bless Abraham Lincoln!"

STANDARD OIL SUBSIDIARY TERMINATES ITS EXISTENCE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Council Bluffs, Ia., March 6.—Stockholders of the Continental Oil Company met in this city today and voted affirmatively on the proposal of the directors to terminate the corporate existence of the company. The company was organized in 1884, and was formerly a Standard Oil subsidiary.

Fads and Fashion

New York, March 6.—The same variety of styles which may be found in sleeves, girdles and sashes, may be also found in neck arrangements at the present time. It is true that the high collar is much less popular than the open neck, even in gowns for the street, but in a few of the latest models there is a collar of uncompromising severity.

Open necks may be found, square or V-shaped. With them are wide, flat collars of embroidered linen covering the shoulders, high Madril collars of lace, narrow frilled fichus of Bulgarian embroidery, round collars of lace that lie in careless folds, or a collar which continues into a revers, curving to end in a point at one side of the waist line. In one case the collar begins at the right side of the neck, which is open in front, goes around the back, and hangs like a stole at the left side of the front.

Brocaded sleeves, different in both color and material from the rest of the costume, are shown in several models. A costume of silk brocade in the shade known as mie de pain, or bread crumb, has sleeves of silk cashmere of another brocade design in several tones of Oriental blue. In all cases these contrasting sleeves are long. The material of the waist itself continues without a seam down a third of the way from the shoulder to the elbow, the brocaded sleeve emerging from under this abortive beginning. A costume of soft tan cashmere has not only the sleeves but also a sort of vest very loose and open, of crepe brocade in tan and dull green. Another gown, in this case of white silk crepe, has the sleeves of white foulard, with a printed pattern in Chinese blue.

The artificial flowers which have been so universally worn are now climbing to a higher position, being placed in many instances quite above the line of the bust. Another detail of change is found in the wrist frills which no longer wander up the back of the sleeve.

One hears a great deal of talk about the "Balkan colors," but the phrase seems to be used with a latitude which embraces almost any group of contrasting shades. The Balkan colors are really the primitive ones, green, blue and yellow. But they are not the most vibrant shades of those colors. In every case the tone is subdued in a characteristic fashion. The red is a sort of brick red, not an ugly brick, but a soft warm shade. The blue and the green are dull tones, but, nevertheless, not lifeless. The yellow is the least modified, but, it too, has lost its edge. With these colors, black is almost always present more or less conspicuously.

A cotton stuff known as Summer brocade is one of the newest wrinkles of fashion and will make attractive tailored suits for late spring models. The material is dainty and pretty, yet looks just what it is, cotton imitation. The brocades for Winter, in spite of their softness of finish, have not been a complete success. However, this cotton counterfeit may look well in bright and warmer weather.

The newest cream white blouses are more plain than ever. The prettiest are tulle Valenciennes, or a kind of soft point d'esprit with figures like those in the Valenciennes design. One blouse of this material has not the slightest trimming or fullness except in the back, where there is a tiny bit to cover the opening and make it look like a narrow plait. The entire thing is made in one piece, the sole garnish being little button studs of black velvet in two rows at the throat, both back and front, and on the wrists. The neck is cut low and round, with cording of the lace in three rows. A notable feature of this blouse consists of the sleeves made all in one piece, with no extensions whatever. It is as though the entire thing had been molded together.

The idea of long lines and simplicity of decoration of skirts and blouses is repeated in hats and collars. Never were heads arranged more severely and more becomingly. And the little hats that pose themselves so prettily, only carry out the idea that beauty unadorned is most adored.

Hats of dark colored straw are bound with braids of straw, silk or cotton in bright colors. One binding which will probably be much used as the season advances is of fine straw in red, blue, green and brown, woven in the form of vine-like stems with bright colored blossoms.

A new silk waist shows a long sleeve reaching well over the hand with a row of small glass buttons in the color of the silk reaching from hand up sleeve seam for three inches. Above this a frill of lace is fastened in the sleeve seam for another three inches. This arrangement has the advantage of keeping the frill out of harm.

petticoat is embroidered with big butterflies worked in gray, blue, tan, green and pink tints in lovely dull shades. The dreamy restfulness which this negligee suggests is refreshing.

Not very long ago it was said that the magic effects—combinations in black and white—were not to continue in fashion; but the spring showing in shoes, parasols, neckwear, street suits house frocks shirt waists blouse and even stockings contains more combination of black and white than ever.

An effective use of the two colors is made in a collar vest and cuff set of chiffon. The chiffon is arranged in bias folds, first a fold of white, then one of black, crossing each other diagonally in the middle of the vest, at the back of the collar and at the side of the cuff. The result is a striped effect but the black stripes are softened by the edge of white stripes which extends under them and the white stripes are made less startling by the black under them.

Black and white gloves seem to have established their claim to consideration. Black gloves, stitched, buttoned and cuffed with white, and black pippings, stichings buttons and cuffs on white gloves are found in all the shops.

Black and white combinations, although extensively seen, must yet be used with care. Black worn by itself and white worn alone are not giddy; but the combination is always striking, sometimes appealingly so, and it must be made in nice proportion to be in good taste.

Cut brocaded velvet and heavy silk plush with silver filigree fastenings make handsome bags for the middle-aged woman. They are capacious enough to hold handkerchiefs, eyeglasses or locket, coin purse and other small articles.

Silk and plush purses, something like the reticules carried by women a generation or two ago, purses about ten inches long and three inches wide, with a clasp at each end and a steel ring in the center to slip over the finger, are especially convenient to carry in the muff.

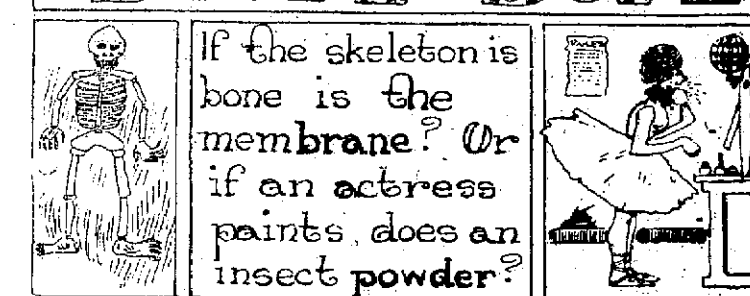

Leather bags frequently have handles of silk and velvet and chenille cords. A new handle is made of black taffeta silk shirred over heavy cord.

Sport Shop Shots

by Dan McCarty

Too much of a good thing is worse than none. So thought a colored boy who was engaged in a boxing bout at Pensacola for the benefit of the Cleveland Naps, training there. He was getting an unmerciful walloping, but his seconds kept shouting to him that he had the other fellow trimmed to a frazzle.

At the end of the fourth round he reeled to his corner and whispered feebly, "Has I sho' enough got him licked."

"You sho' has. He am helpless," was the reassuring response.

"It's sure enough got him licked. I'm gonna quit while I's a winner," and he climbed through the ropes.

A Washington sport writer comes across with half a column on the startling fact that Manager Griffith of the Nationals has commissioned Scout Mike Kahoe to spend all summer, if he has to, finding another second sacker such as Derrill Pratt, who made such a hit with the Browns last year. It is probable that most managers would let a scout stay out all summer and winter, too, if that were guaranteed that the sagacious sleuth might corral such a first-baseman as Hal Chase, such a catcher as Forrest Cady, such a shortstop as Arthur Fletcher, such a pitcher as Walter Johnson, or such an outfielder as Ty Cobb. The same sport writer wisely remarked that "the value of an experienced catcher is appreciated by every manager."

If anyone objects to what he considers the undue notice given baseball by the Americans he should take a squint at the Cubans and decide that, perhaps, we Americans aren't so very bad, after all. A corps of journalists follow American teams on which Cubans are playing; and the father of Jacinto and Thomas Calvo, who are to get big league trials this year, plans to spend the baseball season trailing their young hopefuls.

Manager McGraw seems to have unearthed a capable pitcher in young Schupp, a southpaw. He is said to have all the elements of success except control, and Coach Wilbert Robinson is working with him to correct that fault. It was Robinson who made Marquard a great pitcher. McGraw probably would be quite willing to find in Schupp just such another "lemon."

Baseball has another "come-back" in the person of Cy Seymour. That veteran player has been signed by the Boston Nationals after a year with the Newark International League team had led most people to think that he was doomed to the minors for good. He hit over 300 for Newark, but was so slow that his value as a fielder and baserunner was small. He got Boston to give him a chance by promising to train hard and get into good shape. With "Spike" Shannon, he was one of the two "ten thousand dollar" beauties whom the Giants bought in the closing race, some years ago, coming from St. Louis and Seymour from Cincinnati. The two gave the Giants the extra punch needed to win.

SURE OF ENTERING APPLETON TOURNEY

Lawrence Coach Sends Words That Jansville is One of Eight Teams to Compete.

Through a telephone message yesterday with Coach Edwin DeWitt, of Lawrence College, Coach Curtis of the high school basketball five, received much valuable information, concerning the locals. Mr. DeWitt said that Jansville are one of the eight teams to fight it out for the state title at the Appleton tournament on March 27th, 28th and 29th. He also stated that the locals will have no elimination games to play, which the locals feared they would have to do. This puts Jansville in the lead in this section of the state, with no competition left, and this is what the locals are at present rejoicing over, as they have two solid weeks of good hard practice before them. The team are at their best, at the present, and are going to the state meet with much determination. They play Baraboo on the 15th, this being their only scheduled game left to play, outside of the Beloit tournament this week.

Beloit Tournament.
The locals will leave tomorrow noon for Beloit when they will enter the second annual Beloit College Basketball tournament. They have been practicing faithfully and are fit for the three games which they will undoubtedly play. It is thought that there will be no team at this tournament to stop the locals, unless some of the strong Illinois teams enter at a late hour. Captain Falter expressed his opinion yesterday on the tournament at Beloit, as easy picking for Jansville and he also stated that if the locals play as good ball at the tournament as they have been playing during practice this week, they would have no difficulty in capturing the trophy at this place. A prize will be awarded for first and second place, silver cup being the trophies. The locals won second place last year, and this year they will not be satisfied unless they gain first position.

The men who will make the trip will be Captain Falter, Edley, Hemmings, Dalton, Atwood, Kuhlow, L. Stewart and Stickney. The games will begin at two o'clock, after the team captains draw by lot the team which they will meet.

Elimination Game.
Appleton authorities have a game scheduled to take place in the local gymnasium on March 14th. This will be an elimination game to decide which team will go to the tournament at Appleton. The game will be between Kenosha and Evansville high schools. It is thought that Evansville made a kick, claiming to the Appleton authorities that her team still have a chance. Jansville has already defeated them on their own floor.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION CALLS INJURY IMAGINARY
Madison, Wis., March 6.—In awarding a nominal compensation to Felix Coriary of Superior against the Superior Stevedores company for a bruised foot, the state industrial commission in memorandum noted that the injury apparently was more imaginary than real. The amount was determined at $52.50 for ten weeks' disability.

The flash of a ten-ton meteor, its tail seemingly hundreds of yards long, lighted up the Allegheny Valley for three miles, the other day, just above Pittsburgh, as it fell. How Paris Helps Poor.
The fact that the receipts of Paris theaters have more than doubled in the last twenty years is a good thing for the Paris poor, since every buyer of a theater ticket in Paris has to pay a ten per cent tax for the poor, the total amount of which for the last year was $1,300,000.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION CALLS INJURY IMAGINARY
Madison, Wis., March 6.—In awarding a nominal compensation to Felix Coriary of Superior against the Superior Stevedores company for a bruised foot, the state industrial commission in memorandum noted that the injury apparently was more imaginary than real. The board also fixed compensation for William Dvorak of La Crosse against the Stamping and Tool Company for the loss of the index finger at the distal joint, resulting from operating a punch press. The amount was determined at $52.50 for ten weeks' disability.

Frightened by Meteor's Fall.
The flash of a ten-ton meteor, its tail seemingly hundreds of yards long, lighted up the Allegheny Valley for three miles, the other day, just above Pittsburgh, as it fell. Residents of nearby hamlets ran from their homes in fright. The next day the mass of substance was smoking hot and incandescent in places.

How Paris Helps Poor.
The fact that the receipts of Paris theaters have more than doubled in the last twenty years is a good thing for the Paris poor, since every buyer of a theater ticket in Paris has to pay a ten per cent tax for the poor, the total amount of which for the last year was $1,300,000.

Kingly Life.
And so the kingly life is a life in quest of big things. Everyone is painfully familiar with the temptation to fritter away life in interests that are small and mean. There are those who spend their strength in seeking money. The concentrated purpose of their days is a quest for gold. They are zealous for artificial gems and they miss the goodly pearls.—J. H. Lowett, D.D.

What Luck!
Fond Mama—"What have you in your apron?" Daughter (breathlessly)—"O, mama, such good luck! Clara Gray's cat had six kittens and her mama would only let her keep one, so she gave me the other five!"—Judge.

Can Almost See Pimples Go
The New Calcium Sulphide Treatment Does Wonders to Every Kind of Skin Eruption.

You don't want to wait forever and a day to get rid of your pimples or other skin eruptions. You want to get rid of them right now. Next week you may want to go somewhere where you wouldn't like to have to take the pimples along.

Pimples Quickly Disappear from Face, Arms, Neck and Back, and Insure a Beautiful Complexion.

You can rid of them just in time by taking Stuart's Calcium Waters. These wonderful little workers have cured bad-boils in three days, and some cases of skin diseases in a week. They contain as their main ingredient most thorough, quick and effective blood cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Remember this, too, that most pimple treatments reek with poison. And they are miserably slow besides. Stuart's Calcium Waters have not a particle of poison in them. They are free from mercury, biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a spotted face. Don't have strangers stare at you, or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your blood makes you what you are. The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

Stuart's Calcium Waters will make you happy because your face will be a welcome sight not only to yourself when you look into the glass, but to everybody else who knows you and talks to you.

Stuart's Calcium Waters are sold by all first class druggists at 50 cents a box. They are very pleasant to the taste and in results are truly remarkable.

UNCLE SAM'S PARCELS POST PROVES POPULAR; MAIL CARRIERS OVERWORKED; EXPRESS COMPANIES PREPARE TO SLASH RATES

Another picture shows clerk weighing and sorting packages at the bottom, parcels post motor tri-cycle.

Judging by the amount of new business being done by post offices throughout the country the parcels post is an unqualified success. Not so, however, from the standpoint of the express companies, which are preparing to slash rates to meet the new competition. The accompanying pictures give some idea of how the new system works.

LEGISLATIVE BILLS.

From reports from Madison the present legislative session is having its hands full sitting the grain from the chaff in the list of the various proposed laws. Hardly any subject under state discussion is lost sight of in the list of would-be laws. Each individual legislator has some pet scheme of his own, that fits his own personal constituency, and he can not see how it is going to hurt to have this bill passed, regardless of its influence on the state at large. There are so many liquor laws, both for and against the traffic, that the expert lobbyist of the brewers in Milwaukee has to threaten other legislation before he can succeed in killing off some of the most noxious of the proposed laws. The work of the legislature is not all done in the committee rooms, despite the fact the public are so informed. It is done behind closed doors, a quiet word in the ear of this or that member, a hint as to this or that particular bill, and the work is done. The hearings are merely perfunctory. They do not go into the core of the whole proposition; they simply listen to arguments and then the report is made. The bill is killed or marked for passage with a favorable report and the real fight comes out when the vote is taken on the floor of the senate or house. No restriction of progressive legislation is to be listened to. This is a progressive age. The more ultra a measure, so long as it conforms to the reformer's idea of progress, the easier it is to slip it through the committees. It is a game of politics pure and simple and the real, honest member, who does not know the inside workings of the machinery wonders why this happens, or what that means and really votes blindly. Some day there will be a Wisconsin legislature that is working for the real interests of the people and not for a political machine the life of which the state has never seen. Meanwhile the laws are being ground out per schedule and only those behind the scenes know just what is to happen.

SOBER AND SAD.

Wall Street comes to the change of administration not so much afraid as sobered and sad. It dreads the future less than it dislikes present conditions. It is not exactly scared, but it is lean, hungry and disheartened.

There are investigations and threatened bills at Albany and at Washington, aimed at the Stock Exchange. Business has been dull for a long time. Prices are so far down from the levels of boom times that they do not look in the least like a big break impending, but rather as if such a smash-up had taken place and the recovery had been slow.

All of which is conducive to gloom and forced economy. It is well calculated to beat down the market value of Stock Exchange seats which are as low, in proportion, as almost any group of securities known to the street. It makes brokers and their business associates wonder what will happen to them if anything more goes wrong with their occupation.

Is it necessary to say that the country can stand a great deal of this sort of trouble without serious results? Industries and commerce which deal with the solid substance of things do not feel the woes of the Stock Exchange. The people of the United States are not less busy and prosperous. The country goes forward at the same pace it has been keeping up through many months of swift expansion.

As for Wall Street, it will probably feel better and fare better before long. Its downs have always been followed by its ups, and history repeats itself in the financial center of the country as well as in the larger movements of nations.

INDEFINITE RUMOR.

That the Janesville recall situation is attracting considerable attention in legislative circles is evidenced by the inquiries that are being received in the city for information relative to the real cause for the project to recall all of the present city officials. In their explanations before the senate committee, which has a bill up for consideration which would clearly define the recall provision, the friends of the local movement gave no definite reasons for seeking to turn out of office the present officers. Their answer to all questions appeared to be indefinite, merely incompetency, a most general charge. One legislator writing for information, asks the following pointed question: "Is it true that the brewers and liquor interests of the state do not approve of the commission form of government and have sought this opportunity to discredit it?" This question is too pointed to be passed over lightly. It would be hard to place the responsibility for the movement here on the brewers of the state, but we do know that the liquor elements here all favored the project and backed it up. It is also rumored that some of the "sinews of war" were furnished by them and representatives of the brewers' interests. It is an interesting question and one which the legislature might well devote some time looking into. Conditions in Janesville did not do and do not warrant the turning out of office of men who seek to do their duty, and if outside influences are behind the movement, it is time to know it and call a spade a spade and not cloak it under some other name.

OUTSIDE CAPITAL.

Once more the project for an inter-urban between Janesville and Madison and the intermediate points is under discussion. In the past dozen years at least five legitimate propositions have been projected and all have failed. The territory to be passed through, the cities at both ends of the proposed route, would warrant the investments of capital, but some way or other their plans always miscarry. The fault does not lie with the promoters, perhaps, but with the present state laws and the ironclad requirements of the railway commission. This body of men, the reform element of the reformers, appear to believe themselves to be a self-constituted organization to prevent the investment of outside capital in Wisconsin without a sufficient number of requirements that would make the ordinary investor too angry to even consider. Until the state laws are changed or until the railway commissioners are given to thoroughly understand that they must concede something to capital seeking investments, this state will continue to trail along, getting farther and farther in the rear of the procession. It is all right to talk about local capital being invested, but local capital, like foreign capital, is not seeking restrictions of a nature whereby it is impossible to obtain even a just return for the money invested. Call a halt in the present system of hedging the state's interests inside a thorny path and things will begin to move.

This mid-winter fair now in session at the auditorium is well worth visiting. It is an exhibit that Janesville and Rock county can well be proud of and the Commercial club, which fostered it, and Secretary Lane deserve lots of credit for the able manner in which it is being handled.

The Balkan war is not over even if the dispatches of the past few weeks have had more to say about Mexico and the Wilson inauguration. They are still fighting over there and one of their battles would make the Mexican trouble look like a back alley fight when it comes to real losses of life.

So National Committeeman Joseph Davies, Wisconsin's favored democratic son, is to be ambassador to Italy. Good for Wilson. Davies is a young man who deserves recognition and will honor the office if he accepts it.

Amundsen says that Milwaukee has a worse climate than the South Pole. But it has better beer.

It might be a good plan for the city to sprinkle a little sand over the icy sidewalks these days even if they do not compel the property-owners to clean their walks. It would save lots of bad tumbles and some hard words.

New Jersey has annexed the United States of America, but Bryan is still on hand to see that the Platte river is on the map.

At least Mexico is an ideal republic to the extent that any man in it may aspire to be president.

COLLEGE SOCIETY GIVES A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.

Miltonian Lyceum Gives a Medley at College Gymnasium Last Evening.

[Special to this Gazette.]

Milton, March 5.—The Miltonian Lyceum of Milton college gave a medley last night in the "gym" before a large audience. The medley consisted of music, acting and representation of the people of Japan, old mounds' tea party, gypsy camp, and a farce entitled "The New Professor." This was one of the most unique programs given in Milton this year. The entertainment was one that required lots of practice and one that does the Lyceum credit on the way it was presented.

JUDGING COMPLETED; NAME PRIZE-WINNERS

DECISION REGARDING AWARDS IN VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS ANNOUNCED TODAY.

GOOD LECTURES GIVEN

Prof. Graber Gives Interesting Address Wednesday and Prof. Otis to Speak Friday Afternoon.

Work of judging the exhibits at the mid-winter fair was completed today and the announcement of the prize-winners is given below. The ribbons for the best exhibits were placed this afternoon.

In the grain department Noyes Raessler of Beloit and A. Austin of Janesville were heavy prize winners, taking first or second in nearly every class. A large number of other grain growers made excellent showings, however, and in many cases the markings were extremely close.

In the culinary department the judging was conducted by Mrs. Cornelius McDonald and Miss Mabel Cornish, teacher of domestic science at the high school. Mrs. Hemple had charge of the needle work department.

The attendance at the show both yesterday and today was very good and promises to be even larger the last two days of the week.

Following are the wards:

Grain Awards.
Ten ears, Wisconsin No. 7: Noyes Raessler, first; J. C. Slater, second; Robert Plumb, third; Arthur Howarth, fourth.

Ten ears any variety, white dent: Noyes Raessler, first; F. H. Raessler, second; J. C. Slater, third; Robert Plumb, fourth.

Ten ears Golden Glow: Noyes Raessler, first; A. Austin, second; Robert Plumb, third; V. Bier, fourth.

Wisconsin No. 8: A. Austin, first; Noyes Raessler, second; J. E. Randall, third.

Yellow dent, any variety: A. Austin, first; Noyes Raessler, second; V. F. Thoms, third; Robert Plumb, fourth.

Best single ear: A. Austin, first; Noyes Raessler, second; F. H. Raessler, third; James A. Carroll, fourth.

FINISH INSPECTION AT WEBSTER SCHOOL

City Visiting Nurse Expects to Begin Examination of Pupils at Douglass School Tomorrow.

Medical inspection of the Webster school pupils will probably be completed today and the visiting nurse will at once begin an inspection of the pupils at the Douglass school. Conditions at the Webster school have been found to be much the same as in the others inspected, the proportion of children suffering from enlarged glands of the neck, adenoids, enlarged tonsils, and defective eye-sight varying but little. As the Webster school has but four grades—kindergarten, first, second, and fifth grades—and the enrollment is small compared with the other schools, the nurse was able to finish her work there in a very few days. When all the schools have been inspected statistics will be compiled that will give a comprehensive idea of the physical condition of pupils throughout the city, and afford a basis for more thorough investigation and treatment of pupils in need of medical attention.

Four cases are now receiving milk and eggs from the special fund provided for that purpose by the Associated Charities. One is a child who has just recovered from pneumonia, two are tubercular patients, and one is the mother of a large family who is in a very anemic condition. One needy tubercular patient, who has been supplied throughout the winter with milk, eggs, medicine, cod liver oil, and even fuel, through the kindness of the Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church, has shown remarkable improvement and gained in weight.

The visiting nurse is making regular calls on the tubercular patients of the city, noting their condition, instructing them as to their own care, and prescribing treatment. Five were given alcohol rubs during the past week.

THIEF TAKES DINNER IN HOUSE HE ROBS

Enters Home of Thomas Platten After Finding Key and Ransacks Trunks and Bureau Drawers.

A key in the mail-box is as good as the latch string out," thought a would-be burglar who yesterday unlocked the door of the home of Thomas Platten, 309 North High street, and finding no one at home, entered and provided himself with a hearty meal from the kitchen cupboard. That he feared no molestation while at this pleasant occupation, evidenced by the fact that he laid the table for himself, afterward searching all the rooms, drawers, and their contents, dumped upon the floor. Fortunately he found only a small sum of money and no clothing has been missed.

Because of the absence of Mrs. Platten, who is visiting relatives in Illinois, the house has been unoccupied most of the time. Mr. Platten discovered that he had entertained a stranger, or unawares on his return from work last evening. As nothing of considerable value was missing he did not inform the police, but he thinks that his unknown guest might at least have expressed his thanks for the hospitality extended. Mr. Platten did not leave his house keys in the mail box when he left home this morning.

These present enjoyed the occasion very much.

Before a large crowd of interested farmers, Prof. L. F. Graber, instructor in arboriculture at the agricultural college, addressed those present at the mid-winter fair yesterday afternoon, emphasizing the importance of growing pedigreed seed.

That farmers throughout the United States are beginning to realize the benefits of sowing pure seed cannot be questioned. It has been within the last two years that pure seed growing has interested the growers to any extent according to Prof. Graber who urged the need of starting in the sowing of the pure seed.

Although the cost may be slightly higher, the products that are yielded from this foreground more than pay for the expense. The state agricultural college sent out to the farmers that were members of the Pure Seed Association, one bushel of pedigreed barley which was sufficient to sow one acre.

This grain was given free to these growers and they in turn were to report to the officials at the university the comparison of the growth of the seed from the pure barley to that of the scrub. There were over one thousand replies and the figures that were compiled from this test showed that five bushels of barley more per acre was the result of sowing pure seed.

The idea of growing better seed has become firmly entrenched in the minds of the growers until at the present time more than ninety percent of the barley grown in the state is pedigreed. The speaker also brought out the fact that this state raises one-eighth of the total barley crop of the United States, showing the importance of starting with pure seeds and in fact, the speaker said only want to show that if good seed were sown at the start the result could not help but be more bushels to the acre and a better quality of grain.

Prof. Graber also dwelt upon the great success of the Janesville mid-winter fair stating that the exhibits were on a par if not superior to those of any fair. Rock county has been ably represented at all the grain shows held in this country winning first prize in barley and rye among the hard competition of the different states, Canada and foreign countries.

Since 1908 the corn Rock county swept everything in its district at the International Grain Show at Columbia, South Carolina. The numerous victories of Noyes Raessler, of Beloit, were noted to show the results of sowing good seeds.

The attendance at the show yesterday was in itself sufficient evidence to show that the growers of Rock county are interested in the work of growing better seed and it is not dangerous to predict that the majority of the grain growers in the territory will be the producers of better grains as the result of the commendable work of the state agricultural college. Prof. Otis will give the address tomorrow.

"BLACKBIRD" EDITOR MUST LEAVE SCHOOL

Chicago Student at University Expelled by Regents for Publication of Questionable Magazine.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 6.—Dennis W. Crile of Chicago, a student in the college of letters and science and a student in the medical school of the University of Wisconsin, was expelled from the university by the regents at their March meeting yesterday, as the author and publisher of "The Blackbird," an objectionable publication which appeared recently.

The action of the regents was as follows: "Whereas, the report of the special committee of the regents appointed to investigate the matter shows that a certain publication has recently appeared upon the streets and in the vicinity of the university, which is thoroughly immoral and entirely reprehensible from every viewpoint, and that its authorship and publication have been traced to and acknowledged by one Dennis W. Crile, a student in the university, and

"Whereas, we believe the matter to be sufficiently serious to demand instant and drastic action on the part of the board of regents in the interest of public morals; therefore,

"Be it resolved, that the said Dennis W. Crile be, and hereby is, expelled from the University of Wisconsin."

Crile appeared before the special committee of the regents and in acknowledging the responsibility for the publication said that no other student of the university was concerned in it.

It is said that Crile will resist the order of expulsion by legal means. The number of "The Blackbird" appeared on the streets yesterday and busy editors sold a thousand copies, it is said.

The concentration of American troops at Galveston, Texas, has gone on swiftly and smoothly. Major General William H. Carter of Chicago is in charge of the movement south of the troops. It is President Taft's purpose to mobilize as close to the Mexican frontier as feasible a body of 10,000 troops, to preserve intact the naval force in Mexican waters.

THE WRONG KIND OF ENTERTAINING.

"O H DEAR, I've got to entertain the Martins next week," I heard a young matron say the other day. "How I dread it!"

I think I must have looked a bit surprised at this inopportune remark, for she promptly apologized. "It isn't that I don't like to entertain them," she said, "but it's the first time they will come to my new home, and you know they are so much better off than I and have such lovely things. Of course, our little home is pretty and I love it, but they have beautiful china and embroideries and expensive furniture and loads of silver, and we have so little. I just love to entertain them, only I don't feel as if I had much to offer."

How many hostesses approach entertainment in that spirit, and what a travesty on hospitality it is!

"Give whatever you have to give, to some it may prove better than you know" has been said in regard to charity. It seems to me it is an equally good description of the right kind of hospitality.

This over-anxious hostess is a remarkably good cook. Having been entertained by her much dreaded guests, I know she can get up a far better meal than their servant, and a meal that no one with a palate would help enjoying.

Now she knows this, too. Then, why shouldn't she be content in having that to give, and not fret because the silver and china and linen from which she is to serve this meal will be somewhat less expensive than that of her guests who are accustomed?

To another unpretentious home we all love to go because it has such a restful, old-time atmosphere, such an aroma of serenity, as it were, that one comes away rested and refreshed in spirit from a sojourn within its walls.

And yet another hostess wins us by the freedom from formality and stiffness which is always a characteristic of her entertaining.

Give the best you have to your guests, and give it freely, and that will surely content any guest who is worth the having.

The Spinster in Our Midst

I was grandmother's birthday. And as she was a very charming grandmother, granddaughters trooped in with gifts, and young girls of the neighborhood came with offerings.

"Tell us, grandmother," said one of the little group around her. "Is it better to get married or remain single?"

Grandmother looked at the bright-eyed faces surrounding her. "Today, that is a hard question," she replied. "In my younger days, it was easily answered. But from the old-maid of my times to the bachelor-maid of the present, the change is about as great as from the stage coach to the flying machine. So which is the better? The stage coach is sure and safe; the flying machine, exhilarating and dangerous."

"But there are accidents even with stage coaches," objected one of the girls.

"Yes," answered grandmother. "The horses sometimes run away, and sometimes it is robbed by highwaymen. But these things didn't often happen in respectable communities. But the aviators are dropping off one by one rather rapidly."

"But, really, grandmother," pleaded the girl who had first asked the question; and the other girls smiled significantly, and thought of the rumor floating around of an engagement soon to be announced.

"The spinster in our midst today," said grandmother, "is a very enviable creature. She can earn her living, if she wants to, at any work she may wish to do. She can go whither she will without consulting or waiting upon anyone. She can join clubs. She can read or study or golf or motor with no interruptions whatever, except those of her own fancy. She has her own bank account, she can buy all the hats and dresses and lingerie she wants to. She can have plenty of friends, if she keeps herself likable and lovable. She can have in every way a very carefree and happy existence."

The girls listening, agreed. "It's me for jolly spinsterhood," said one. "But will such a life content a woman, always," went on grandmother. "Is it enough for a woman with heart and brain to be occupied simply and solely with herself? Doesn't she want to be useful, to be necessary to somebody else? Wouldn't it give her greater happiness to make somebody else happy, than merely to make herself happy? In which condition will she grow and develop in the right direction the most?"

"Then it isn't just a question of seeking happiness, after all, is it?" queried the girl.

"I think life is meant to be happy," said grandmother. "But I do not think we always get happiness when we seek it primarily. I think it comes from living life rightly, but not from clutching it as the sole object in our life quest."

"So whether it is better to marry or remain single, is an individual matter," she concluded. "If you marry, because of love and the desire to make someone happy, then a life of richness and development is ahead of you. If you remain single, because you feel you can grow more and be of more use in this way, then also will life be broad and full. But if you either marry or remain single with an eye solely to your own happiness, then I fear you will come to your latter days in disappointment and disillusion. True life is growth. It means climbing higher and getting the broader vision."

The little group was silent, and the girl's faces a bit more serious than they had been.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I haven't any mother. That is why I ask your advice. (1)—I have big black eyes. How can I make them look small? Everybody admires them but I don't. (2)—Is a girl of 19 too old to be a "Dad"? I always do. (3)—What age should you be when you start to work? I never earned a cent yet. Dad has a reliable job and I don't have to work. (4)—Is my writing bad?

(5)—When I go any place with girl friends their beaux seem to like me. This makes my girl friends sore. What shall I do? (6)—Do you think $50 too dear for fox fur? (7)—What can I do to my hair? It is so frizzy? (8)—I perspire under my arms. What can be done for me? (9)—Am I too old for a nickname? BLACK EYES.

(1)—Your eyes are probably very pretty. You cannot make them smaller. (2)—No, indeed, especially if you say it lovingly. (3)—Better finish school before thinking of earning money. I hope, though, that you will really try to earn some money then, because every girl is the better for knowing how to help herself. (4)—It is very good.

(5)—Be modest and do not encourage the boys' attentions. If the lord made you good to look at, you ought to be humbly thankful for it, and not use your looks to make others unhappy. (6)—No. (7)—You might rub a little olive oil into the hair, but it is probably prettier the way it is naturally. (8)—Bathe with alcohol. There are preparations for this sold in the drugstores and at toilet counters. (9)—No, if not too silly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—Is it proper for a girl of 16 to correspond with a fellow out of town? (2)—Is it proper for a young girl to receive gifts from a fellow? (3)—Is it proper for a girl after coming home from a party, with a fellow, to stand at the gate and talk a few minutes and kiss him goodnight? (4)—When a fellow takes a girl to the train and asks her if he can get her ticket, should she give him the money before or after getting the ticket, or should he pay for it?

(5)—I like a young fellow and would like to get better acquainted with him. Would it be wrong to send him an Easter greeting? (6)—If I receive a card from the young man that I never knew or saw, should I answer it? (7)—Would it be proper for a young girl to take a young man's arm while walking on the street? POLISH CHINMS.

(1)—If she knows he is a good, respectable boy and consults her mother about her letters, I see no harm in it. (2)—She may receive inexpensive things, flowers, candy and such. (3)—If you kiss him goodnight he will place you with all the other girls who kiss him. Why not be different? You can be just as sweet and pleasant. A little talk at the gate does no harm. (4)—You should pay for your ticket and give him the money for it. If he is kind enough to take the trouble of getting it for you.

(5)—No. (6)—No. (7)—She is supposed to be strong enough to walk home. At night, however, or crossing a muddy street, she may take his arm.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can I remove white spots on polished oak table, made by hot dishes? Would a coat of varnish injure it? A. L. D.

Rub the spot with sweet oil, then polish with spirits of wine. Or hold a hot iron a few inches above the spot until the right color returns, then polish with kerosene. A table after coming home from a party, should be scraped and sandedpaper before applying a new finish.

baking powder, 2½ teaspoonsful; salt, ½ teaspoonful; sugar, one tablespoonful; melted shortening, 1 tablespoonful; beaten egg 1.

Sift all dry ingredients together, mix well with liquids and bake in muffin pans in a quick oven. Many variations of flour and fruit may be made from this recipe.

TALKS WITH MOTHERS

Quick Doughs.
This is a simple title for all doughs which may and should be made quickly. There is always some member of the family who excels in making baking powder biscuits, popovers, drop-doughnuts, muffins, shortcake, or apple dumplings. All good things to eat, and if made from good material with correct proportions and careful baking, they are wholesome and give a change and relief from the regulation breads.

Directions for Quick Doughs.
See that all material and utensils are in readiness before beginning work. Know just how long the fire should be lighted in advance to insure the correct heat.

Where soft milk is used, one teaspoonful of baking soda (level) will take care of one pint of such milk. Use pastry flour for the best possible results. One teaspoonful of baking powder to one pint of flour is a general rule, where eggs are used, increase this a little where no eggs are used. Flour is always sifted before measuring, and again with all the dry ingredients in it. All fats, are better cut into the flour than rubbed in with the hands. This may be butter, beef drippings or any prepared fat. Vegetable fat is more wholesome than animal fat.

A recipe was recently given in this column for "baking powder biscuits." So I will not repeat it, but only add, keep trying making biscuits until they exactly suit you. This can only be accomplished by practice and that frequently.

Dumplings.
Leave out the shortening for the biscuit dough and use enough milk to mix soft. Drop from a teaspoon into the boiling stew, let a cloth over the cook rapidly for ten minutes.

Often when the drops of water which gather on the cover drop back on to the dumplings it makes them heavy.

Apple Dumplings.
Roll short biscuit dough till one-half inch thick and cut into six round shapes. In each fold a small apple core and pared. Steam or bake forty minutes or until the apples are tender.

If baked, add four cups of boiling water and one cup of sugar in the pan. Other fruits may be substituted or with the apples such as nuts, raisins, pineapples, figs and dates.

Shortcakes.
There is no season of the year when shortcakes may not be made. There is a great difference of opinion in recent years about the dough. However, it is probable that a simple rich biscuit dough, shortened principally with butter, is most satisfactory. Sometimes a beaten egg and a third of a cup of sugar are added. This may be baked in two ways: rolled to fit the pan, brushed over with melted butter and another layer put on this, then baked. Or baked all in one and split open, but if any desired fruit put on it, just now oranges and grated coconut would be very nice, or oranges and bananas. Individual shortcakes are cut with a biscuit cutter and baked one on top of the other as the large ones are. These should always be served warm.

Muffins.
A good basis for all muffins would be milk, 1 cup; pastry flour, 2 cups;

THE BATH.

Most mothers consider the bath solely as a means of cleanliness. With painstaking regularity the little one is tubbed and scrubbed, and when clean and dry again, scampers off to find more dirt. To most mothers this process of bathing is a curative not a preventive. There is no doubt that a clean baby makes for health and morals in the growing child, but rightly understood and utilized the bath may become a very important factor in nourishing and vitalizing the little body.

THE TEMPERATURE.

A bath thermometer is an inexpensive but very necessary nursery instrument and should be used each and every time the child is bathed for many years. For the first few weeks of life the temperature of the water should be 100 degrees F., later during early infancy, 98 degrees F., after six months 95 degrees F., during the second year, from 85 degrees to 90 degrees F., and after that from 80 degrees to 85 degrees. Always see that the temperature of the room in which the bath is given is at least 70 degrees F.

THE USE OF SOAP.

No full tub bath is given the new baby until the cord has come off, but after that a moderate amount of pure white soap may be used daily, followed by a thorough rinsing of the little body and drying by means of the towel and powder. Avoid vigorous rubbing for the infant and use the powder freely in all folds of the skin.

Quit soap if it seems to produce discomfort in the form of chafing or irritation. Substitute the bran or salt bath.

THE RUB-DOWN.

Here is where the mother can get in very effective work in strengthening the muscles and giving tone and vigor to the system. After the infant is dry cover with a blanket, and using the hand so as to expose the body as little as possible to the air, give a gentle but thorough rub-down, especially over stomach and spine. I strongly urge the use of a lotion made up of pure alcohol and cocoa-nut oil. If this is obtainable, I do not mean cocoa butter, but genuine cocoa-nut oil. If this cannot be found substitute sweet oil. You will be surprised how the clean warm skin will absorb the oil; and there need be no fear that the shirts and bands will be in any way injured.

After the first birthday and in very warm weather use plain alcohol, but use either this or the lotion until the child is old enough to stand vigorous rubbing with hands or a coarse towel.

USE OF COLD WATER.

The average child when one year old is strong enough to stand the tonic effect of a common sense use of cold water, after the body is cleaned in water of the usual temperature. Some mothers sponge the chest or back while the little one sits or stands in the warmer water. I prefer to add the cold water gradually to the bath, splashing it all over the child until the temperature of the water is lowered to about 70 degrees F. Do this quickly and then wrap in a woolen blanket, drying and rubbing until the skin is aglow with the blood. Care should be taken not to be too vigorous.

A judicious use of cold water with the oil rub-down is one of the best cold preventatives in the hands of the mother.

FREQUENCY OF THE BATH.

The healthy infant should be bathed daily; and this should continue until the child is on his feet. Then every other day may do for the busy mother, if hands, feet, face and excretory openings are cleaned between tub-baths.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES INCOMPATIBLE.

"To take fruit into the stomach along with vegetables," says Dr. R. S. Ingersoll, "will cause trouble, for the fruit cannot be separated from the vegetables." Vegetables, require from two to four hours to digest, fruits about one hour, so that these classes of foods are incompatible. The fact that the stomach discharges its contents at intervals makes foods requiring different times for digestion none the less incompatible, for examination of the contents of the stomach two hours after eating such a combination shows the fruit, or a part of it, mixed with the other food, and it is reasonable to suppose that the effort to separate the two, after the fruit is prepared to pass, is wasteful of vitality and tends to weaken the normal action of the stomach, and accordingly we find that in severe cases of dyspepsia a suitable monodiet is necessary.

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Make it at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 5 minutes, you have as good syrup as you could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualacal and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

INCOME TAX YIELDS VERY SMALL RETURN

Fulton Township Makes Actual Collection of $4.37 of Which the State Gets 43 Cents.

A total income tax of $76.66 was assessed in the town of Fulton, but the actual cash return from the same was only $4.37, according to the report made to the county treasurer, F. F. Livermore. The amount returned to the county is $1.31, or thirty per cent, of which one third will go to the state, so that the income tax will yield the state the sum of 43 cents in the town of Fulton, out of which must be paid the cost of assessing and administering the income tax law in that township.

According to the town of Fulton figures about five per cent of the income tax assessed is actually paid in as the remainder has a personal property offset. At that rate the total yield from the $96,964 assessed in Rock county will be less than $5,000, of which the state will receive less than $500, which would hardly pay for the salary of the supervisor of incomes. In the cities of Janesville and Beloit, however, it is anticipated that the returns in actual cash will be much larger than in the rural districts. The final settlement for these important districts will be awaited with interest.

The Theatre

PICTURES MIGHTIER THAN WORDS.

Those to whom a public or private library is a sealed temple, may derive from Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Myers Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 20 and 21, matinee Thursday, an inexhaustible mine of knowledge and pleasure without the burden and effort of delving for it. Mr. Howe's library of films freely bestows the delights and benefits of knowledge. It does so not alone by means of splendid scenes from foreign shores, but also by reproductions that appeal directly to the heart, that are humanizing, that broaden and enrich mind and heart. They open up new vistas of thought. They stimulate new ideas. They arouse curiosity even about subjects that hitherto seemed commonplace and convince us of those fine things in life which would otherwise escape attention. They cultivate a desire to learn and appreciate more and more all that is beautiful in life. They strengthen the imagination and therein lies the foundation of mental progress and understanding. If we are able to imagine well—to assimilate the meaning of the pictures Mr. Howe reveals to our gaze—if we keep this faculty on edge, we strengthen our powers to realize their importance more and more. It is not all an obscure or occult influence that explains the great success of Mr. Howe's exhibition. It is because it conveys powerful messages so directly and in such enduring form, that they linger in the inner sight long after the eye ceases to gaze upon them.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," one of the greatest stories ever written and the favorite dramatic vehicle in the past of many famous actors and actresses, and one of the most powerful magnets in the theatrical field today, will be given a notably artistic presentation by the Leon Washburn's Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company at the Myers Theatre, Monday, March 10, matinee and evening.

This, the greatest of all plays, is one of the real dramatic treats of the season. It will be ably interpreted by the efforts of a carefully selected company. Everything required in the way of scenic equipment and accessories has been provided which insure one of the best performances of this play that has ever been presented.

"THE ONLY SON."

Thos. W. Ross of "Fortune Hunter" and "Checkers" fame will appear at the Myers Theatre, special return engagement, Friday evening, March 22. It is said that no more satisfactory play has been presented for some time than "The Only Son." While the role of Thomas Bradward, Jr. (Thos. W. Ross) is that of another prodigal, he has been developed throughout the play as a more serious character than Mr. Ross played in "The Fortune Hunter." This does not mean that the comedy element is lacking in "The Only Son." In fact, if anything, Winchell Smith the author has written a more subtle comedy part than he has ever created in any of his former plays. The serious character of the play, its big theme and the human interest story it centers around young Bradward, have brought to the surface a latent talent in Mr. Ross which he has never before had occasion or opportunity to demonstrate.

The same company that gave the performance in Chicago and New York will be here, among whom may be mentioned Lizzie Hudson Collier, Campbell Collier, Eileen Errol, Wallace Widdecomb, Booth Chapin, Gladys Barcott, Caroline Harris, Henry Weaver and Osborne Searle.

"UNCLE JOSH PERKINS."

"Uncle Josh Perkins," the famous New England rural comedy brought up to date and equipped with new scenery and effects, is to be presented at the Myers Theatre, on Saturday, March 8, matinee and evening. Few plays have lived as long as this amusing reproduction of farm life, and it is because of its naturalness, its wholesome humor, and its innocent pleasantry that "Uncle Josh Perkins" continues to delight thousands of playgoers every week, year in and year out. It is several seasons since this rural comedy has visited this vicinity and it welcome should be all the greater for that reason. "Uncle Josh Perkins" will be presented by a carefully selected cast, and the world famous "Tuba Band" will as usual be very much in evidence. The customary street parade, without which no rural comedy is complete, will be given at noon on the day of the performance.

The Daily Novelties.

THE FLYING FISH.
"Yes," continued the great detective's visitor, "I dropped my ring in the water exactly one year ago and the flying fish flew up and swallowed it."

"Since then I have appealed to every great detective in the world. I want that ring back not so much for its intrinsic value but because of the four valuable diamonds in the setting."

"Hm," said the great detective, "I'm." (See footnote.) "In an exhaustive and exhausting study of the subject, I have learned that twelve out of every thirteen flying fish are caught by anglers; they are extremely stupid fish.

"Now, obviously, the thing for you to do is to visit every restaurant in the city and order flying fish until you find your ring in one of the orders."

One month later the great detective received the following telegram: "Have 9752 flying fish. Found my ring in the last. Doctor says I cannot live through the night; fly-fishitis. Inclose ring and invitation to funeral as fee, as flying fish took all my money."

(Footnote: A sort of thoughtful cough.)

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

BATH TUBS.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE bath tub is a form-fitting device which never fits anything but the feet, and then sometimes it is a tight squeeze.

There are two kinds of bath tubs—stationary and portable. The stationary tub is a heavy piece of cast iron overlaid with a white enameled surface, which is rendered as slippery as possible by the manufacturers, who are in league with the plumbers, who attach four legs to it and then drag them over a hardwood floor with the uttermost nonchalance. One of these tubs can leave footprints on a waxed floor which will be commented upon by free-spoken guests for fifteen years.

The portable bath tub is a handy article which enables the forlorned men to leave guesting hotel proprietors out of the rent of a room with bath. A man can take one of these tubs out of his grip and set it up in his room in less time than it would take to erect a 12x16 tent. The water is then heated and poured in equal portions into the tub and on the floor, after which the bather pulls an alpaca shawl over his head and sits on top of an alcohol lamp until he can dispose with perfect freedom. Some portable tubs have the unpleasant habit of suddenly collapsing without a word of warning, and throwing the bather head first into the chaffinier, but the use of these is now prohibited by law.

The family bath tub is usually picked out by the wife, and is generally of a size which compels her husband to fold up both knees like a pair of scissors before climbing in. After a man has wriggled around in one of these close-coupled bathtubs for thirty minutes in the attempt to reach his feet with a bar of soap, he will contract a set of double-acting cramps which will follow him around for a week. This is the main reason, in fact the only reason, why men look forward to Saturday night with undisguised horror.

Choose Your Chiropractor As You Would Your Physician

Choose your Chiropractor with discretion. The competent chiropractor will do your body a world of good. The incompetent, compared with the former, can do as much harm.

In the Chiropractic Profession the same as in all others, are found Standard Schools, graduating competent men. You will find in a community the skilled and unskilled, competent and incompetent following in their respective trades or professions. It is up to the public to judge.

A sick man's life is not one to be experimented with. Choose your Chiropractor who is a graduate of a school which is the best.

I am a graduate of the first, and oldest school teaching Chiropractic, this school, the Palmer School of Chiropractic was founded by the discoverer of this science.

During my three years of practice in this city, I have adjusted cases that were given up by others, they were near death's door. After a few of my adjustments they got well.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 2, 1913.

To Whom It May Concern:—

I am writing this testimonial in appreciation of the wonderful work J. N. Imlay, the local Chiropractor, did.

Up to the time of my call at his office I was a slave to the medicine bottle. In my years of ailment I have taken patent medicine and the best of physicians have prescribed for me without benefit.

The physicians told me I was on the verge of Bright's Disease. With thoughts of this dreaded disease gradually taking my life, I was very nervous, had almost constant headaches, and weak eyes. Giving up all hopes, after trying all forms of medical and drugless treatments, a friend told me to call on J. N. Imlay.

It is with the greatest pleasure for me to tell those who may read this testimonial that I am now free from the above mentioned disorders, have gained fifteen pounds in weight and feel like a new man. It is my sincere wish that anyone suffering as I did will call on the Chiropractor and have his health restored permanently.

Plants Need Nourishment.

A German investigator has discovered that plants resist cold best when they are given special nourishment to keep them warm. For instance, to feed a plant sugar stimulates its power of resisting low temperature, much as like food acts upon animals, though in less marked degree.

The STOLEN SINGER

by MARTHA DELLINGER

Copyright 1913 by THE JANSVILLE DAILY GAZETTE

On the crest of this cliff, each of the two men paused, one following the other at a little distance. The first man, however, paused merely for a few minutes' rest after the steep climb. Chamberlain, hardened to physical exertions, took the hill easily, but stood for a moment lost in speculative wonder at the scene. He kept a sharp eye on his leader, however, and presently the two men took up their Indian file again toward the village.

Some distance farther on, the road forked, one spur leading up over the steep rugged hill, another draping abruptly to the main village street and the wharves. A third branch ran low athwart the hill and led, finally, to the summer hotel where Chamberlain and the Reyniers had been staying. At this division of the road Chamberlain saw the other man ahead of him sitting on a stone. He approached him leisurely and assumed an air of business sagacity.

"Good day, sir," said Chamberlain, planting himself solidly before the man on the stone. He was rather large, blond, pale and unkempt in appearance; but nevertheless he carried an air of insolent mockery, it seemed to Chamberlain. He glanced, disgustedly at the Englishman, but did not reply.

"Rather warm day," remarked Chamberlain pleasantly. No answer. The man sat with his head propped on his hands, unmistakably in a bad temper.

"Want to buy some land?" inquired Chamberlain. "I'm selling off lots on this hill for summer cottages. Water front, dock privileges, and a guaranty that no one shall build where it will shut off your view. Terms reasonable. Like to buy?"

"Nonsense!" snarled the other. Chamberlain paused in his imaginative flight, and took two luscious yellow pears from his bulging pockets.

"Have a pear?" he pleasantly offered.

The man again looked up, as if tempted, but again ejaculated "Nonsense!" Chamberlain leisurely took a satisfying bite.

"I get tired myself," he went on, "tramping over these country roads. But it's the best way for me to do business. You don't happen to want a good hotel, do you?"

Coarse fare and the discomforts of beggars' lodgings had told on the Frenchman's temper, as Chamberlain had surmised. He looked up with a show of human interest. Chamberlain went on.

"There's a fine hotel, the Hillside, over yonder, only a mile or so away. Best place in all the region hereabouts; tip-topping set there, too. Count Somebody-or-Other from Germany, and no end of bigwigs; so of course they have a good cook."

Chamberlain paused and finished his second pear. The man on the stone was furtive and uneasy, but masked his disquiet with the insolent sneering manner that had often served him well. Chamberlain, having once adopted the role of a garrulous traveling salesman, followed it up with zest.

"Of course, a man can get a good meal, for that matter, at the red house, a little way up yonder over the hill. But it wouldn't suit a man like you—a slow, poky place, with no style."

The man on the stone slowly turned toward Chamberlain, and at last found voice for more than monosyllabic utterances.

"I was looking for a hotel," he said, in correct English but with a foreign accent, "and I shall be glad to take your advice. The Hillside, you say, is in this direction?" and he pointed along the lower road.

"Yes," heartily assented Chamberlain, "about two miles through those woods, and you won't make any mistake going there; it's a very good place."

The man got up from the stone. "And the other inn you spoke of—where is that?"

"The Red House? That's quite a the doorway.

"Is this the Red House?" It was a cool, sharp voice, sounding even more outlandish than Mr. Hand's. Sallie turned deliberately toward the door and surveyed the new-comer.

"Well, yes, I guess so. But you don't need to scare the daylight out of me, that way."

The stranger entered the kitchen, and pulled out a chair from the table. "Give me something to eat and drink—the best you have, and be quick about it, too."

Sallie paused, carving knife in hand, looking at him with frank curiosity. "Well, I snuff!" You ain't the new minister either, now, are you?"

The stranger made no answer. He had thrown himself into the chair, as if tired. Suddenly he sat up and looked around alertly, then at Sallie, who was returning his gaze with interest.

"Where are you from, anyway?" she inquired. "We don't see people like you around these parts very often."

"I dare say," he snarled. "Are you going to get me a meal, or must I tramp over these confounded hills all day before I can eat?"

"Oh, I'll get you up a bite, if that's all you want. I never turned anybody away hungry from this door yet, and we've had many a worse looking tramp than you. I guess Miss Redmond won't mind."

"Miss Redmond!" The stranger started to his feet, glowering on Sallie. "Look here! Is this place a hotel, or isn't it?"

"Well, anybody'd think it was, the way I've been driven from pillar to post for the last ten days! But you can stay; I'll get you a meal, and a good one, too."

Sallie's good nature was rewarded by a convulsion of anger on the part of the guest. "Fool! Idiot!" he screamed. "You trick me in here! You lie to me!"

"Oh, set down, set down!" interrupted Sallie. "You don't need to get so hot up as all that! I'll get you something to eat. There ain't no hotel within five miles of here—and a poor one at that! Thus, protesting and attempting to soothe, Sallie saw the stranger make a grab for his hat and start for the door, only to find it suddenly shut and locked in his face. Mr. Chamberlain, moreover, was on the inside, facing the foreigner.

"If you will step through the house and go out the other way," Mr. Chamberlain remarked coolly, "it will oblige me. My horse is loose in the yard, and I'm afraid you'll scare him off. He's shy with strangers."

The two men measured glances. "I thought you traveled afoot when pursuing your real estate business," sneered the stranger.

"I do, when it suits my purposes," replied Chamberlain.

"What game are you up to, anyway, in this disgusting country?" inquired the other.

"Ridding it of rascals. This way, please," and Chamberlain pointed before him toward the door leading into the hall. As the stranger turned, his glance fell on Sallie, still carving her real loaf. "Idiot!" he said disgustedly.

"Well, I haven't been caught yet, anyhow," said Sallie grimly.

Chamberlain's voice interrupted her. "This way, and then the first door on the right. Make haste, if you please, Monsieur Chateaufort."

At the name, the stranger turned, standing at bay, but Chamberlain was at his heels. "You see, I know your name. It was supplied me at the reading room. Here—on the right—quickly!"

The hall was dim, almost dark, the only light coming from the open doorway on the right. Whether he wished or no, Monsieur Chateaufort was forced to advance into the range of the doorway, and once there, he found himself pushed unceremoniously into the room.

It was a large, cool room, lined with bookcases. Near the middle stood an oblong table covered with green felt and supporting an old brass lamp. Four people were in the room, besides the two new-comers. Aleck Van Camp was on a low step-ladder, just in the act of handing down a book from the top shelf. Near the step-ladder two women were standing, with their backs toward the door. Both were in white, both were tall, and both had abundant dark hair. One of the French windows leading out on to the porch was open, and just within the sill stood the man from Charlesport.

"Here's a wonderful book—a rare one—the record of that famous Latin controversy," Aleck was saying, when he became conscious of the entrance of Chamberlain and a stranger.

"Ah, hello, Chamberlain, that you?" he cried. Agatha and Melanie, turning suddenly to greet Chamberlain, simultaneously encountered the glint of gaze of Chateaufort. It was fixed first on Melanie, then on Agatha, then returned to Melanie with an added increment of rage and bitterness.

"Sol!" he sneered. "I find you after all, Princess Auguste Stephanie of Krolvetz! Consorting with these—these swine!"

Melanie looked at him keenly, with hesitating suspicions. "Ah! Duke Stephen's cat's paw! I remember you—well!" But before the words were fairly out of her mouth, Agatha's voice had cut in: "Mr. Van Camp, that is he! That is he! The man on the Jeanne D'Arc!"

"We thought as much," answered Chamberlain. "That's why he is here."

"We only wanted your confirmation of his identity," said the man who had been standing by the window, as he came forward. "Monsieur Chateaufort, you are to come with me. I am the sheriff of Charlesport county, and have a warrant for your arrest."

Dr. Grabbe had almost succeeded in dismissing Mrs. Gassaway when she stopped in the doorway, exclaiming: "Why, doctor, you didn't look to see if my tongue was coated!" "I know it isn't," said the doctor wearily. "You never find grass on a race track."

No Known Fake Real Estate Ads Can Run Here

The Gazette strives to maintain the same HIGH DEPENDABILITY in its real estate columns as in all other classifications.

A CAREFUL CENSORSHIP is applied to advertising of real estate because sales usually involve considerable of The Gazette readers' money.

It is well known that The Gazette often REFUSES to PUBLISH advertisements calling for investments of money, that through clever phrasing and juggling of figures, PROMISE wonderful returns to the investor.

So far as The Gazette knows, its real estate advertisers are, in their really deals, the sort of men with whom you could SAFELY "swap horses while crossing a stream."

There are brief periods when some of The Janesville realty advertisers have no property in shape to be shown.

At these times no advertising appears for them.

But if you will WATCH THESE columns, day by day, you will find SAFE PROPERTY INVESTMENTS of every kind, big and little, offered by Janesville's MOST RELIABLE real estate firms.

Some are here today more will be here tomorrow and when you see advertised the property you want, ACT QUICKLY, as over six thousand other people and their families read The Gazette every day the same as yourself, and a lot of them may be keen after the same property you wish to buy.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 6, 1873.—Runaway—Edward McKey has suddenly taken to fast driving. This somewhat unusual proceeding occurred on Main street, this morning and the immediate cause of the unwonted speed of his horses was a railroad train, crossing at the head of the street. The cutter struck a tree, after the horses had run several blocks, and Mr. McKey was awkwardly deposited in a snow bank, which saved him from injury. A boy who started with Mr. McKey was lost out of the cutter in the transit, but was not hurt.

Officer Curtis was busy all day yesterday ferreting out the perpetrators of the tobacco theft on Mr. McDermott's premises. Towards night he concluded that he had sufficient proof to make two arrests. The individual whom he arrested lives three miles north of the robbed place. Accordingly they were taken into custody and brought before Justice Pritchard for examination on the charge of larceny. Their case was postponed until Saturday and the prisoners gave bail for their appearance.

A high toned youth on the West Side wishes the people to understand that he don't indulge in any plebian practice of riding in an omnibus. As he has no rig of his own he generally goes on foot, but that he thinks is better than in coming in contact with the vulgar crowd. And yet the boy has been away from his mother almost a year.

CONFESSIO

Thou art so very dear to me, No wonder that of thee I sing. Though others cold to me may be, Thy warmth is most encouraging.

I am responsive to thy touch, And of thy charms I fain would tell— Let all the world know just how much I love thee, steam pipes, and how well.

A Cough Remedy for Baby

A Cough Remedy for Baby. If you could hear the grateful remarks daily made to us about Baby Cough Syrup, you would not hesitate to use it. The instant relief showed the best evidence of a cure. You would buy a bottle for it and keep it in the house ready for emergency.

It is not wise to give baby a cough syrup or any other remedy that is designed for older people. Decreasing the dose does not meet the requirements. Baby should have something specially designed for it. Its system is too delicate for medicine made for adults.

Breath Baby Cough Syrup is exceedingly pleasant in taste. It is usually so quickly comforting in its effects that it is preferred by parents above any other cough remedy. It contains absolutely nothing harmful. It tends to relieve congestion, inflammation and irritation, and to lubricate the air passages, thus making the child comfortable. If it does not do all these things in a way that will please you, the money you paid for it will be refunded without question.

Price, 25 cents. Sold in this community only at our store.

Sodium Phosphate is a liver stimulant. It increases the flow of bile which is necessary to the proper digestion of food. Bile also stimulates bowel action. A good many forms of indigestion and constipation are promptly relieved by a few doses of Effervescent Sodium Phosphate taken before breakfast each morning.

Jaundice, or yellow skin, headaches, dizziness, sour stomach, and other complaints can be traced to the liver. Stimulate the liver and the trouble is gone. Sodium Phosphate that has always been sold at 50c a bottle for a few days we will sell at 25c a bottle. Get it today. Give it a trial. You will be much pleased.

Mr. Pfennig, our graduate pharmacist and chemist, can give you any other information you wish about this or any other remedy. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts., the drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.
